

HELPING SQUADRONS PRIORITIZE PROGRAMS AND TASKS

The Challenge

In many Squadrons, too many additional duties compete with accomplishing the primary Air Force missions. A whole host of policies, requirements, statutes, and additional duties all descend upon the squadron, leaving airmen burned out and with little direction on the duties that are most critical. As per guidance from Air Staff, Squadrons are now getting more authority and decision-making power, but to be truly empowered they now need the tools to make effective decisions.

The Decision Lens Solution

Decision Lens is a software solution that allows you to prioritize your programs and tasks, fully aligned to the Commander’s Intent, in order to reduce “value-deficient” programs and tasks. Decision Lens will also help you to balance your resources (airmen’s time or budget) more effectively to ensure your entire squadron is focused on mission-essential tasks.

How We Implement

From the moment you kick-off with Decision Lens to the moment you review the results, you will see just how transparent the process can be. Our Customer Success team will walk with you and guide you every step of the way.

In as rapidly as a one-week sprint, Decision Lens can enable a squadron to prioritize the programs and tasks, identify “value-deficient” programs that interfere with primary mission activities, and give Airmen back significant time to focus on the priorities that matter most.
